

Open Position – Productivity Ninja

About Think Productive

Think Productive is one of the world's leading productivity training companies, helping organizations across the globe to survive information overload, reduce stress levels and increase playful productive momentum in the global workforce.

Since 2009, when we were founded by best-selling author Graham Allcott, our range of practical, human and straight to the point workshops have been transforming the productivity of leading companies and organisations worldwide.

Our core values are respect, trust, openness, quality and professionalism.

The Productivity Ninja

Our Productivity Ninjas (that's what we call our trainers) deliver workshops, practical coaching and consultancy. There are three main elements to the role:

1. The delivery of Think Productive workshops
2. Business Development for Think Productive, generating revenue.
3. Creative input – contributing ideas and enthusiasm to an exciting 'community of expert practice', as we constantly seek to improve the quality of our workshops and, in turn, our own productivity!

We are looking for Ninja's based in or around various regions of the United States.

The ideal Productivity Ninja is or has:

- A passion for all things productive and working "smarter not harder"
- Willing to travel
- Willing to continually learn and improve
- An experienced presenter/trainer and/or facilitator
- Fluent in English
- Self-motivated

In general we can say that people who qualify for this position know it themselves. If you're an accomplished trainer who is passionate about productivity and keen to spread the word about the brilliant work that we do, why not join our exciting community of expert Productivity Ninjas?

For more information visit our website www.thinkproductiveusa.com or call Tracy Parks at 541-788-7001.

Applications can be submitted by email to: tracy@thinkproductiveusa.com.