Overview

Email consumes an average of 41% of people's working day. Yet how often do we take a step back to think about how we use it, let alone develop best practices to ensure it's our greatest productivity tool instead of a massive distraction.

This workshop shares our Productivity Ninja® approach to brilliant email, enables your team to think about how their email habits affect others and reshape the culture so that email is no longer a massive drain on time and resources.

“

Don't just take our word for it ...

Some really good ideas on small changes to make a big difference.

Who should attend?

Anyone and everyone who uses email for work – from the CEO/C-suite to entry level roles. In fact, changing the culture of email is easier in your organization if you can get buy-in from senior leaders, so invite some along!

Practical requirements

All we need is a meeting room in your office. Our team at TPNA will walk you through all of this at the time booking.

What you'll do and discover

- ▶ Discuss, clarify and identify what you can do to improve the email culture of your team.

- ▶ Discover the Productivity Ninjas'® top email 'Do's and Don'ts' and how to put them into practice.
- ▶ Learn practical ways to deal with common email gripes: such as email essays, email ping-pong, bad subject lines, CC'ing and hitting 'reply all'.
- ▶ Understand the difference between 'connectivity' and 'productivity' – and how to create boundaries again to stop people emailing late at night.
- ▶ Develop an "Email Manifesto" to help your team communicate more effectively.
- ▶ This manifesto will capture all your team's ideas and commitments, so they can be shared with the rest of the organization.

Results

A completed "Email Manifesto" for your organization and teams to improve email use, culture and productivity, reduce stress and generate playful and productive momentum.
